On these sites, the user may be presented with advertising related to content that he or she viewed previously on other websites which employ the Google remarketing feature. For more information about Google remarketing and Google's privacy policy, please visit: <http://www.google.com/privacy/ads>.

If you have reached our website via a Google advertisement, Google AdWords may sometimes save a cookie on your computer. This cannot trace back to you as a person. The information collected with the help of this so-called "conversion cookie" is used to generate statistics on our conversion rate. This implies that we can know how many users visit our websites through a Google ad and, if applicable, purchase a product. If you want to avoid the tracking process, you can disable cookies for conversion tracking by setting your browser to block cookies from the relevant domain: Google AdWords: googleadservices.com

This information cannot be used to identify individuals and can be deactivated at any time by changing the display settings or privacy settings in your browser.

In some cases we use the remarketing function of Google Inc. This feature is used to present website visitors with advertisements related to their interests within the Google advertising network. To do this, a cookie is saved to the visitor's browser which makes it possible to identify the user when he or she visits a website which is part of the Google advertising network. On these sites, the user may be presented with advertising related to content that he or she viewed previously on other websites which employ the Google remarketing feature. According to Google, it does not collect personal information during this process. If you do not want Google to use the remarketing feature, this can generally be deactivated by changing the settings under <http://www.google.com/settings/ads>.

Through the use of the Google remarketing feature and the "similar audiences" feature, you may be presented with advertising from tooz which is tailored to your person and personal interests when you visit websites within Google's so-called "Display Network". You can also deactivate the cookies used in this process at any time by changing the display settings or privacy settings in your browser.

We use the information thus obtained for the presentation of advertisements on Facebook (partner) pages or other websites. If you wish to object to the use of Facebook Pixel, you can set an opt-out cookie on Facebook or disable JavaScript in your browser.
